2 Dead, 42 Hurt in Reno Explosions

Five Buildings Destroyed, Others Damaged

National Guard Evacuates Eight-Block Area

RENO, Nev. (UP)—Firemen shot high-pressure jets of water today into the smoking rubble of what had once been a prosperous street in the heart of Reno — until looking gas destroyed it in three fiery blasts.

A series of three explosions and the ensuing fire Tuesday killed two persons and injured 42 others. At least five big buildings were destroyed and a score of others were damaged in varying degrees.

The dead were identified as Mrs. John DuPratt, 60, of Reno, and Frank Spina, 48, owner of a shoe factory that was gutted in the blast. Spina apparently was blown clear across the street and under a parked car by the force of the explosion.

Victims In Streets

City officials estimated the damage at $3 million.

Reno's famed gambling casinos remained open for business during the holocaust. One witness, Margaret Jones, an airline stewardess, said patrons in the Riverside Hotel "were still gambling and didn't seem concerned at all."

But a block away across the river was a fearful scene. Flames spouted from the windows and roofs of buildings, broken glass littered the street and scores of men and women lay in the streets. Many screamed in fright or agony — or both.

After it was all over, firemen were thankful that the toll of dead was not worse. The odor of escaping gas had served to warn many persons away from the area. Scores of persons evacuated several buildings moments before the accident.

Guardsmen Stand By

Firemen were unable to search the rubble immediately for more bodies. Early today, it was still smoking, such was the intensity of the flames when they raged at their height.

The scene of the holocaust was First and Sierra streets, one block north of the Truckee River.

Nearly 150 Nevada National Guardsmen were ordered to the scene to evacuate an eight-block area and to prevent looting. Eventually, people were allowed back into the area except for the worst damaged blocks.

Police said the blast was the result of a leak in an underground gas main. The leak had gone on for at least an hour and a half before the first explosion, allowing a dangerous quantity of natural gas to collect in the area.

Mrs. Irene Morgan, 65, was driving her automobile past Paterson's Department Store when the explosion occurred.

Windshield Blown Out

"I was just driving by the store when I thought someone had hit me on the head with a rock," she said. "I couldn't understand how, because all the windows were closed."

"Then I noticed that the windshield was blown out and the stuffing of the seats was flying in the air."

W. A. Paterson, owner of the two-story department store wrecked in the blast, said he smelled a strong odor of gas an hour and a half before the first explosion. He called the Sierra Pacific Power Company "... Get the hell over here and turn it off."

When the fumes became worse, he said, he ordered all customers and employees out of the store. This was a few moments before the explosions.

BREAK UP RIOT—Club-wielding police disperse a crowd of rioters gathered in front of the town hall in the small mountain town of Sulmona, Italy. Violence broke out over the closing of the local army recruiting station. The decision to move the military establishment to a nearby town was protested by local residents, who feared the transfer would result in unemployment. The government imposed martial law to halt the rioting after more than 50 persons had been injured in 2 days of street fighting. (NEA Telephoto)

Tit-for-Tat on Recovery of Stolen Autos

It's tit-for-tat in this auto recovery business. A car stolen in Saline county was recovered in Lawrence county and a car stolen in Lawrence county was recovered in Saline county.

Recovered near Lawrenceville yesterday morning was the 1950 Ford belonging to Mr. Harker Miley, stolen here Sunday night.

When the Lawrence county sheriff told Saline county officers about the local car being found near Lawrenceville, he reported that a 1954 Ford was stolen there. The Daily Register published a description of the car in yesterday's issue.

After reading the description, a motorist reported to Police Chief Ross Lane late yesterday that such a car was off Route 145 south of Mitchellville. Lane and State Policeman Guthrie Alexander investigated and found it was the stolen vehicle, stuck up, out of gas and with the transmission locked. It was towed into Harrisburg.

Lane said he had learned the car had been there since Sunday evening, that it had been stolen before the Miley auto theft.

George W. Thompson of Carrier Mills Is Honored on His 94th Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Thompson, Carrier Mills, entertained Sunday in honor of George W. Thompson's 94th birthday, which was Jan. 30. The guests were served dinner from a beautiful table centered with the traditional birthday cake decorated with the number '94'.

George Thompson, his two brothers, Perry of Harrisburg, and Charles (Jack) of Ledford, and his sister, Mrs. Susan Oment, Marion, are the four surviving children of the twelve born to Armistead and Martha Harris Thompson, who were pioneers of Saline county and who lived on a farm near Liberty, George, a retired farmer, and his wife, the late Emma Miller Thompson, lived and reared their nine children in the Carrier Mills area. All the children are married, and with their families bring the total of Mr. Thompson's descendants to 102 — 25 grandchildren, 53 great-grandchildren, and 15 great-great-grandchildren. His children are: Ezra, Carrier Mills; Carrier (Mrs. George) Fritz, Carrier Mills; Annie (Mrs. A. A.) Moore, Harrisburg; Bertha (Mrs. Arthur) Pankey, Carrier Mills; Edgar, Galatia; Elmer, Carrier Mills; Albert, Carrier Mills; Wilson, Wanette, Okla.; and Clara (Mrs. Herbert) Hoxsey, Wood River.

Those present for the birthday dinner were: Perry Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. George Fritz, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pankey, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thompson, Mrs. Clara Hoxsey, Mrs. Ruby Basler and son, David, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard W. Moore and daughter, Patricia, the host and hostess, and Mr. Thompson.

Mrs. R. W. Rankin Heads Heart Ass'n Campaign

The appointment of Mrs. R. W. Rankin as chairman, Mrs. Herman Schwartz as publicity chairman and Mrs. Marian Humm as treasurer during the month of February was announced today by Floyd M. Seaton, Quincy, president of the Illinois Heart Association.

Letters will be sent to business, clubs and organizations and individuals during the heart month asking for contributions.

"More than one in every sixteen persons have some form of heart disease," said Seaton. "These diseases are no respecters of age; 500,000 children are among the sufferers and 29 percent of those who die from heart disease are under the age of 65."

In accepting the chairmanship Mrs. Rankin said, "These facts alone make one realize the importance of the work the Heart Association is doing. If it is to continue its program of research, lay and professional education and community heart programs, funds must be made available. I hope everyone will contribute generously during the campaign so both the local state and national association can continue to bring new hope for hearts."

Three Boys Who Abandoned Truck Captured

Three boys who abandoned a 1950 Chevrolet farm truck on South Vine street in Harrisburg have been captured in St. Charles, Mo., in connection with the theft of an auto in St. Louis, Chief of Police Ross Lane stated today.

Arrested were Sam Houston Youngblood, 19, Tampa, Fla., and Steve Sankerson, 15, and James Edward Abney, 18, both of Milwaukee, who fled officers following a Saturday night burglary in Marion, Ky.

Lane said he had been informed the trio stole a 1956 Ford in Chattanooga, Tenn., then burglarized the store at Marion, Ky. The sheriff's department and Kentucky state police gave chase and ran them into a dead-end road, where the auto was abandoned.

They made their way to the farm of Harley Williams, seven or eight miles away, and stole his stake truck which was driven to Harrisburg and abandoned.

Lane said he did not know how they got out of Harrisburg after abandoning the truck here. He said, however, he learned that some of the items taken from the Marion store were in the car taken in St. Louis.

Miss Lulu West, 80, Dies Near Eldorado

Miss Lulu West, 80, died at 10 a. m. Tuesday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Charley Shorb, north-east of Eldorado in the Poplar community.

The body was returned to the Shorb residence this morning by the Eldorado funeral service to lie in state till the funeral which will be Friday at 2 p. m. at Poplar church. Rev. John Baughman of Greenwood, Ind., will officiate and burial will be in the church cemetery.

Eisenhower Sees Odious Government Controls If Inflation Uncontrolled

House Approves Auditor Office Deficiency Bill

Provides Money To Help Make Up Hodge Shortages

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The Illinois House today overwhelmingly passed a deficiency appropriation for the state auditor's office over a Democrat's protest that members should "sit silent" and not vote until the Hodge scandal is thoroughly investigated.

Only one vote, that of Democrat Edward C. Eberspacher, Shelbyville, was cast against the bills, but several Democrats voted only present. The aye and nay vote was 132-1.

The bill provides $369,259 in new money, and permits transfer of another $290,000 to help make up the shortages in the auditor's office.

Rep. John K. Morris (D-Chadwick) protested that members of the House at a hearing on the bills Tuesday, "did not get satisfactory answers" to questions about Orville E. Hodge's looting of the state auditor's office, which caused the deficiency.

Morris said it is a "scandal and a disgrace upon the General Assembly" that newspapers had to do all the investigating of the Hodge scandal.

Morris then urged legislators to "sit silent" and not vote until the Legislature provides for an investigation of the 2 1/2 million dollar Hodge scandal.

Rep. Paul Powell (D-Vienna), however, urged passage of the bills, and said the deficiency was not the fault of the present state auditor.

In legislative action Tuesday, the House received a Democratic-sponsored resolution calling for a constitutional convention — one of the major recommendations of Republican Gov. William G. Stratton.

If approved by two-thirds vote in both houses, the question of a convention would be submitted to the voters at the 1958 general election.

A bill was introduced in the House by Administration Leader Rep. John W. Lewis Jr. calling for a state minimum wage law of 75 cents an hour. The bill exempts domestic and farm labor and jobs covered by the federal $1 an hour minimum. It would apply wherever four or more persons are employed.

Skid Row Drifter, Freed on Bond in Girls' Deaths, Whisked to Plush Hotel

CHICAGO (UP)—Bennie (The Dishwasher) Bedwell, 21, a Skid Row drifter who admitted and then denied killing two teen-aged sisters, today basked in the unaccustomed luxury of a swank hotel.

Bedwell was freed late Tuesday on $20,000 bond through the efforts of Morris Brown, a Champaign, Ill., bondsman.

Bedwell, who only two weeks ago was happy to occupy a 50-cent cot in a flophouse, was whisked from jail to the plush Palmer House in a pink Cadillac by his attorney, David Bradshaw.

On hand to greet Bedwell was the mayor of his Paris, Tenn., hometown. Aaron Brown, who assured Bennie the people of Paris believe in his innocence and will provide him with a steady job if he comes home.

Before taking Bedwell to the Palmer House, Bradshaw said he

Council Discusses Ordinance to Regulate Taxi Cabs in City

The Harrisburg city council yesterday discussed the feasibility of passing an ordinance which would keep the city taxis from using the parking meter areas for regular parking places, set up a rate schedule and limit the number of taxis in Harrisburg.

The discussion arose after Wayne Bridges, local cab company owner, declared he had bought out the other taxi companies and sought protection on his investment by a limit on the number of cabs that could operate.

City Attorney George B. Lee told him that the council had no power to give him a monopoly on the cab business, but that it could limit the number of cabs and give the license holder the option of license renewal.

Two Provisions Desired

Bridges said he planned to have five cabs, and when questioned on the matter, said he planned to put in fare increases to certain sections of the town.

Police Chief Ross Lane said that if an ordinance limiting the number of cabs were to be passed, he desired that it contain two provisions: 1—that cab stations be moved out of the metered zones; and 2—that if anybody is caught handling liquor in the cabs, that the license of the company be revoked.

Regarding point No. 1, Bridges said if the number of cabs were limited, he would agree to move out of the metered area.

Regarding point No. 2, City Attorney Lee said that the licenses could be revoked if any part of the taxi ordinance were violated.

After considerable discussion, it was decided that Bridges should bring in a schedule of rates he planned to charge to the council at its next meeting, that these rates might be incorporated into any ordinance that might be passed.

Confirm Appointments

The council yesterday confirmed the appointments of W. J. Davidson and Paul Hilliard to the Harrisburg Water and Sewer Board. Davidson was appointed by Mayor Claud Gibbons to fill the unexpired term of the late P. J. Hillard. Hilliard was appointed to succeed Willard Wiley, whose term has expired.

John Deputy, manager of the Harrisburg Mill and Elevator Co., attended to see about getting council permission to install a cob burner at the mill in the city. He said he had inspected burners at Ridgway, New Haven, Crossville and Evansville, and that they appeared to take care of the problem of burning cobs.

The council decided to get a report first from the Illinois Inspection Bureau regarding the installation, before passing judgment on the matter.

Louie Dalton appeared regarding getting city water to the subdivision where he is building houses on the Dorris Heights road west of the fairground. No action was taken.

Army to Draft 13,000 in April

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Defense Department announced today that the Army will draft 13,000 men in April.

The April call will bring 2,193, 430 the number of men drafted since the Korean War started.

The Army is drafting 14,000 men this month and the same number in March. It called 17,000 in January.

Rainfall Here Measures .74 Inch

Harrisburg's latest rainfall measured .74 inch up to 7 a. m. today. Up to 7 a. m. yesterday the measurement was 19 inch and from then to this morning the fall was .55 inch. Galatia had 46 inch of rain from 7 a. m. yesterday to 7 a. m. today.

Bedwell, an illiterate who sports Elvis Presley style sideburns, and his bondsman had to hurdle several obstacles before winning his freedom.

The state's attorney's office rejected Brown's pledge of real estate as security for the bond. Brown later got help from a Chicago surety firm in posting acceptable bond and Bedwell was freed.

Another hitch nearly developed when Bedwell, who can write only his name, began by scrawling his Skid Row nickname, Bennie, instead of his real name, Edward Lee, to use bond papers.

A court reporter pointed out the mistake and Bedwell started over and succeeded in getting his full name on the paper.

Bedwell's bond is good only until Feb. 19 when the case will be continued. However, the bond can be renewed.

President Says U.S. Must Step Up Oil Shipments

Resignation of Defense Mobilizer Is Announced

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today that if inflation gets out of hand the government will have to impose controls which he considers odious.

The President made this statement at a news conference in which he also said the United States must step up oil shipments to Europe and that prospects for peace in the Middle East have been improved.

If inflationary pressures continue, Mr. Eisenhower said, the United States would have to move in with controls which he finds not only odious but not representative of the present American way of life.

Mr. Eisenhower began the conference by announcing the resignation of Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming. He said he will nominate Assistant Defense Secretary Gordon Gray, former president of the University of North Carolina, as Flemming's successor.

Asked about comparative military strengths of this country and Russia, the President said the United States has developed weapons to the point where it is as strong as it ever has been in time of peace.

Highlights of Conference

He conceded that the United States has not reached the stage it would like on long range missiles. But he said short range missile performance is improved.

Asked about the possibility of a Soviet attack, he almost exploded. Such likelihood grows less every year, he said, adding that any military adventure today is just another way of committing suicide.

Other highlights of the President's news conference:

1. He predicted that Israel will withdraw her forces from the Gaza Strip and the area of the Gulf of Aqaba lying in Egyptian territory in accordance with the resolution of the United Nations.

2. He believes that his conferences with King Saud of Saudi Arabia have produced progress toward a peaceful and, eventually, united Middle East.

Need Civil Rights Bill

3. He said the United States should ship oil to Europe to the fullest capacity of available transportation facilities. He held out the possibility that if this does not take place the federal government may have to step into the situation.

4. He renewed his support of the four point administration civil rights program before Congress. He said there is nothing in it inimical to the rights of any person and that he regards the legislation as very decent and needed.

5. He again voiced strong support for the mandatory six-month basic training ordered for National Guard enlistees beginning April 1. In his opinion, he said, the 11 weeks' alternative plan proposed by the National Guard Assn. would not answer the defense needs of the nation.

6. He said the likelihood of attack by any nation possessing new and powerful weapons of massive destruction on another country diminishes every year. He said that as the understanding of new weapons increases it becomes less likely that the weapons will ever be used.

Says Feels Well

7. He said Vice President Richard M. Nixon is being kept constantly abreast of developments within and out of the government so that in the event that — as the President put it — the grim reaper removes Mr. Eisenhower from the scene, Nixon could take over without any delay.

8. Mr. Eisenhower, in response to a question, said he feels as well today as he did before his September, 1955 heart attack.

Perilous Navigation

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

The conflict within the Eisenhower administration over the size of the new federal budget dramatizes the deep difficulties which beset government in this age of great domestic growth and continuing foreign peril.

In the long run, the efforts of high officials to rationalize the conflict will hardly be remembered. The differences themselves seem likely to continue and perhaps be accentuated.

Probably they exist—and will exist—not only between man and man but within individual minds. For they reflect a genuinely powerful dilemma.

A good many respected public men urge with force that there is danger in excessive bigness, whether it be in government or industry. They would hold government growth in tight check, fearing the control over human life that goes with enlarging government.

They believe, too, that if government can't trim its sails and cut its debt in times of booming prosperity, then it never can. They think federal savings should reach the level where both debt and tax reductions are possible.

They see a serious inflationary menace in any other path.

No one interested in sound government, in a solvent nation free of major inflation, can doubt the need of good federal financial management.

But, side by side with these necessities are the pressures upon government to do more, to spend more.

We already have a vast new highway program voted. Defense expenditures remain high. The demand for foreign aid likewise. And new obligations for schools, more hospitals, and other national needs are in the offing.

The predicament is plain. Government cannot retrench and add programs at the same time.

If it is going to go forward into new areas of operation, it is going to build cost. As it does, tax cuts become less and less likely. Indeed, the more evident prospect is for higher taxes and even more borrowing.

This is the puzzle facing the Eisenhower administration today. It will confront any administration of whatever political party.

Some believe we should just acknowledge that in a huge and growing land a whopping government is inescapable and there's nothing we can do about it.

Others feel we must yield ground with glacial slowness as the pressures upon government mount.

On balance, the Eisenhower administration seems to fall somewhere in between. But in landing on this middle ground it perhaps inevitably reflects strongly the arguments on both sides.

"Desert Nights Are Too Cold for This New Fashion"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Arabian-American Oil Co. Previously Asked U. S. To Aid Saudi Arabia; It Promised Low Cost Oil To U. S. Navy In Return; Oil Companies Increased Profits 37 Per Cent In Last Three Years.

WASHINGTON. — For approximately ten years after the end of World War I, American oil companies jockeyed with the British for possession of the greatest oil prize in the world — Iran, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, and the small sheikdoms at the head of the Gulf of Persia. For another ten years, American oil companies also jockeyed between themselves.

Today, American oil indirectly is jockeying with Congress over economic aid to the Near East, over fear of Arab nationalization, and over the spectre of Soviet encroachment.

Officially, Secretary of State Dulles and the Eisenhower administration are doing the congressional jockeying. But the oil companies remain the vitally interested parties in the background.

Of the importance of these oil fields there can be no debate. Of the need of keeping them out of Soviet hands there is no argument. But there is difference of opinion as to who should pay the bill—the oil companies or the taxpayers. There is also debate on whether it's the oil companies which dictate our Near East policy or the Eisenhower administration.

Finally there is debate over how far the armed forces of the United States should be pledged to protect a private American investment. Or if the armed forces are to be used, should Near East oil remain an unregulated, unsupervised private investment.

All these points, involving the risk of war, are so important that the Senate, believing the public is entitled to all the facts, has voted an investigation of American policy dating back through the Truman administration.

FIRST AID TO KING SAUD

This writer also has been digging out some of the Near East facts the public is entitled to know about. They go back to the first loan and lend-lease grant to the father of the present Arabian monarch, King Ibn Saud, in 1941, shortly before Pearl Harbor.

This aid was extended by the Roosevelt administration because it too recognized the importance of Arabian oil and because the American companies, which then controlled the Arabian-American Oil company, offered to supply oil to the U. S. Navy at the relatively cheap price of 40 cents a barrel.

The entire transaction, which took place under the Democrats, was later investigated by the Senate investigating committee then under the Republicans. The Republican criticism of a Democratic administration for using taxpayers' money for the oil companies was just as rigorous as the present Democratic criticism of Republican policies in the Near East.

The Senate committee found that the Texas Company and Standard of California, then the two chief investors in Aramco, had hired James Moffett, former president of Standard Oil of New Jersey and a close friend of Roosevelt's, to secure American economic aid.

King Ibn Saud has found his budget unbalanced and claimed that his royalties from Aramco were insufficient. He wanted an extra $6,000,000 annually from them during the war. The European war had been in progress for two years and American entry was considered inevitable. So in return for a promised cheap price for oil for the U. S. Navy, an RFC loan of $30,000,000 was advanced to the British for King Saud. Extra loans and lend-lease funds totaling $99,000,000 were extended later.

"U. S. WAS DEFRAUDED"

"To induce the grant of aid to the Saudi Arabian government," the Senate investigating committee found in 1948, "the Arabian-American Oil company offered to sell to the United States under a proposal dated April 16, 1941, at prices based on fuel oil at 40 cents per barrel."

"When the United States needed the oil because of its war demands," continued the Senate report, "notwithstanding these prior proposals, the companies offered the Navy fuel oil at $1.05 a barrel on a take-it-or-leave-it basis. The Navy was forced to buy the oil on these terms."

"The oil companies were under moral, if not legal obligation to disclose to the naval procurement officers their previous proposals for the sale of oil submitted to the President."

But, charged the Senate report adopted under Republican leadership, they "exploited the government by exacting high prices for their products, despite the assistance to Saudi Arabia at the companies' behest to protect and preserve the companies' concessions."

The Senate committee went on to tell how the oil companies claimed they had doubled their royalties to King Saud, and observed: "The U. S. government clearly was defrauded because the royalty payments were not doubled."

It was on the basis of these Senate charges that the Justice Department brought suit against the American companies which comprise the combine for an overcharge of $67,000,000.

OIL PROFITS ZOOM

Some of the senators now investigating the proposed Dulles doctrine for the Near East, compare circumstances today with those of 1941 when Aramco maneuvered the first American aid for the father of King Saud. Today King Saud's treasury is also low, as a result of curtailed oil shipments curtailed by the Suez stoppage, and he seeks American aid.

In this connection, the senators have before them the recent profits of the oil companies, as compiled by the House Small Business committee, showing their profits increased the amazing total of 37 per cent during the first three years of the Eisenhower administration.

Profits of Standard Oil of N. J., shot up from $519,981,000 in 1952 to $709,310,000 in 1956. Socony Mobiloil went from a profit of $177,092,000 in 1952 to $307,434,000 in 1955. Texas Oil jumped from a $141,821,000 profit in 1952 to $262,720,000 in 1955. Standard of California shot from $174,050,000 in 1952 to $231,139,000 in 1955.

These companies also enjoy special tax write-offs, such as the 27 1/2 per cent oil depletion allowance, which other taxpayers can not get.

Yellowstone National Park was created in 1872, the first, and still the largest of the U. S. national parks.

Government Caught in Squeeze

By Its Own Tight-Money Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is caught in the squeeze of its own tight money policy.

Twice within the past month, it has had to offer the highest interest rates since 1933—the depths of the depression—to find buyers for new securities. And officials doubt that the end is in sight.

Actually, money is no scarcer than it was two or three years ago. But the unprecedented peacetime economic boom has created a pressing demand for available funds—particularly for new plants and equipment and for public works programs.

The government, chiefly through the Federal Reserve System, has used the so-called "tight money" policy to hold excessive borrowing in check. The result of this policy has been higher interest rates—not only for individuals and businesses but for the government itself when it wants to borrow money.

Early last month, for instance, the Federal National Mortgage Assn. sold 200 million dollars of eight-month debentures at an interest rate of 4 1/2 per cent. FNMA, which buys home mortgages in money-scarce areas, floated a similar issue in November at 3 1/2 per cent.

Last Thursday, the Treasury Department offered sharply higher interest rates on more than 10 billion dollars of certificates of indebtedness and notes it offered in exchange for similar government securities that fall due in the next six weeks.

In the big debt turnover, interest rates on the short-term certificates were increased from 2 1/2 per cent to 3 1/2 per cent. Treasury officials said the hike could cost the government an extra 50 million dollars.

Rates on both the FNMA and the treasury issues were the highest since 1933. Also under serious consideration by the treasury is the possibility of increasing the traditional 3 per cent interest rate on government savings bonds.

The end result is that it is costing the government more and more each year to pay the interest on the 275-billion-dollar national debt. President Eisenhower's budget for fiscal 1958 allocates $7,300,000,000 for the payment of interest alone. This is about 10 per cent of the total budget of $71,800,000,000.

Two More Unknown Soldiers to Be Buried In Arlington Cemetery

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two more unknown soldiers—one from World War II and one from the Korean War—will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery on Memorial Day, May 30, 1958, the Defense Department said Monday.

Costly Tea

When tea first was introduced in England during the 17th century, it was served only by the rich and only on special occasions, because it cost $30 to $50 a pound.

Two Killed in Tenement Fire

CHICAGO (AP) — Two persons were killed and four others were injured today when a fire swept a tenement building on Chicago's South Side.

The victims were identified as Lee Pippin, 4, who was dead on arrival at Michael Reese Hospital, and Phillip Span, 60, who died hours later of burns suffered in the blaze.

Critically hurt were Arthur Ashley, 58, who jumped from a third story window. Also injured were Claude Mitchell, 54, his wife, Lucy, 48, and John Ewell, 42.

The early morning blaze routed 32 persons from the three story building. Four persons jumped from windows to escape the flames.

New Hampshire has almost 6,000 miles of hard-surfaced secondary and town roads and another 3500 miles of byways with improved gravel surface that are usually in good condition.

Illinois Education Association

Two from County Home Bureau Executive Board Attend Farm and Home Week at U.I.

Representing Saline county at Farm and Home Week at the University of Illinois, Jan. 28-31, were Mrs. Joseph Smith, RFD 3, Harrisburg, and Mrs. Fanno Bledig, Galatia, both members of the County Home Bureau Executive board.

On the 29th they attended the 33rd annual meeting of the Illinois Home Bureau Federation which was held in the University Auditorium with Mrs. E. D. McGuire, Makanda, state president, presiding. The program theme was "Homemaker's Wider Horizons."

Miss Lula S. Black, state leader of Home Economics Extension, extended greetings to a large crowd, even though the weather conditions were unfavorable.

Following the health chairman's report by Mrs. Leo Quinn, which closed with this admonition "Let it not be said that any Home Bureau mother failed to see that her child received the third polio shot," she accepted the Distinguished Service award presented by the president of the Illinois Heart Association, Floyd M. Seaton, in behalf of the I. H. B. F.

The afternoon speaker who has been featured in various magazines and papers and who has appeared on television, was Dr. Lawrence C. Jones, known as "Little Professor of Piney Woods." He is a champion of his own race and has earned for himself a well-deserved place among the top-ranking educators of our time.

Using for his subject, "Building Homemakers," he spoke from a depth of knowledge and wide experience gained through years of hard work. He has helped to build good homemakers, as well as good artisans in other areas, from the crudest of raw material into the finest of finished products.

Other interesting programs which the delegates attended were: "Financial Security for Today's Farm Families," by Mrs. Marion Eberly, director, Women's Division, Institute of Life Insurance, New York; "What Do You Want in Counter Tops and Smooth Floor Coverings?" by Velma Everhart; "Pile Floor Coverings" Ross Miller, and a demonstration on "Microwaves Can Do Your Cooking."

Tours were taken through the child development laboratory and the new Bevier Hall, which is the University's recently completed five story Home Economics building.

The evening recreation was in charge of the rural youth and was a winter festival folk jamboree.

Mrs. Bledig attended a breakfast coffee hour with Mrs. Floyd Leonard, state membership chairman, in charge, and Mrs. Smith attended the president's dinner, given in honor of the state officers and the past and present county Home Bureau presidents.

Comfort Rebekah Lodge Officers are Installed in Candlelight Ceremony

The officers of Comfort Rebekah lodge No. 48, Carrier Mills, were installed recently in a beautiful candlelight ceremony.

For the occasion the hall was decorated with lovely flowers and tall candles, carrying the color theme of pink and green. Mildred Chaney and Leah Travelstead were candlelighters.

The retiring noble grand, Mae Dallas, opened the session with a welcome. Peggy Tolbert served as soloist for the evening, accompanied by Larry Edwards at the piano.

The flag was presented by Kathleen McNew who led the Pledge to the Flag after which the audience sang the National Anthem.

During the obligation ceremony five of the escorts formed a beautiful tableau of the moon and seven stars, the emblem chosen for the year. An escort dressed in white held an open Bible and two with lighted tapers and four with white Bibles came from the rear of the room and formed in front of the officers while they took their obligations and the soloist sang "My Task."

When the noble grand, Lucille Harper, was presented she was escorted between a line of girls carrying lovely pink carnations which were gathered and presented to her by the installing marshal.

As the vice grand, Clara Mae Bailey, was presented in the center of the floor, her small daughter, Linda, presented her an arm bouquet of red roses which was a gift from her husband, Mr. Bailey.

After installation twelve escorts dressed in rainbow color formal gowns gave a beautiful drill closing with a tableau of a large moon and seven stars. Gladys Pankey sat in the moon with many lovely gifts for the new noble grand.

The past noble grand, Mae Dallas, was presented the past noble grand jewel from the lodge, and she and the vice grand received many lovely gifts from their families and friends.

Linda Bailey, daughter of the vice grand, accompanied by Billy Ryan at the piano, sang to her mother, "Love Me Tender."

Escorts were Gladys Pankey, Norma Figg, Wilma Gullede, Oneida Simpson, June Ricketts, Jennell Martin, Freda Moake, Flossie Thomas, Betty Beal, Genevieve Jamerson, Lamona Mitchell and Fay Wyatt.

Officers installed were: Lucille Harper, noble grand; Clara Mae Bailey, vice grand; Thelma O'Neal, recording secretary; Ella Chase, financial secretary; Golden Abney, treasurer; Pete Holmes, warden; Hazel King, conductor; Leah Travelstead, chaplain; Carrie B. Wasson, musician; Clara Campbell, right supporter to noble grand; Mildred Chaney, left supporter to noble grand; Jennell Martin, inside guardian; Flossie Thomas, outside guardian; Anna Ritter, right supporter to the vice grand; June

Installing officers were Oscar Kingery, installing president; Ellen Kingery, warden; Jane Pankey, secretary; Dollie Davis, chaplain, Blanche Whitney, outside guardian; Thelma O'Neal, installing marshal; Carrie Wasson, musician; Grace Henson, treasurer; Clara Campbell, inside guardian.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloot or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H and stimulate it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONAM, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONAM's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONAM's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONAM is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAM neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions. It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAM exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAM, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98¢ for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2¢ per tablet.

A DOCTOR for BLUE JAY COVE

By ELIZABETH SEIFERT

Copyright 1956 by Elizabeth Seifert. Distributed by NEA Service

XXVI

Summers, said the natives, were always hot in the Cove. Cass, who thought New York had taught her something of humidity, mopped her brow and was inclined to resent their cheerfulness about the damp, steamy heat.

It was August and a time of first harvest in Blue Jay Cove; farm wives bent, red faced, over their preserving kettles, and counted the fryers already in the freezer; their husbands rode the tractor across the hay fields, baling the second cutting.

The nights were not too bad, until one night came when the leaves hung like metal platelets upon the trees, and even Cass came downstairs the next morning more tired than when she had gone to bed. At 6:30, the air was like a wet, woolen blanket, hot and smothering.

"Weather breeder," announced Backy, with cheerful lugubriousness. "We gwine to git a storm."

"Anything would be a relief," said Cass.

"You ain't seen the storm I got in mind," said Backy.

She went on back to the kitchen, where Will Ivory repeated Backy's warning. "Storm's comin'!"

At two she went over to the apartment as usual, and longed for a tub in which she could soak her dry, hot body. She stood for a long time under the shower, came out and looked wanly at the black linen dress.

She went back to the house.

The street was deserted. Cass felt her eyelids grow heavy. She didn't usually take a nap—but today—she leaned back in the chair and put her feet up on one close by. Between her lashes she saw a leaf stir upon the syringa bush. Then a little spiral of dust lifted in the middle of the sunny street and went lazily whirling along the bricks. The magnolia tree across the street faintly clashed its leaves together, as it did in any breeze. Cass straightened and looked at the sky. There were no clouds that she could see, but the bronzy tone had definitely deepened.

The fan blades began to whirr against opposing currents of air, the slats of a Venetian blind clashed. A door slammed, and by the time Cass came again to the side porch, the tree tops were beginning to bend and lash, though still the sun shone hotly down upon them. The wind was not especial-

Columnist to Speak at SIU

CARBONDALE, Ill.—Hal Boyle, noted columnist for the Associated Press, will speak at a charter presentation dinner for a Southern Illinois University undergraduate chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, Feb. 14 in Carbondale.

Boyle, who will be on the SIU campus as an Elijah P. Lovejoy Lecturer in Journalism, also will speak at a freshman convocation at 10 a. m. the same day. Established by Southern's Department of Journalism in 1954, the Lovejoy lectureship annually brings to the University prominent journalists for formal addresses and classroom appearances.

A team of present and past national officers will conduct the "SDX" initiation ceremony, scheduled for 5 p. m. Feb. 14 in the Library Auditorium, according to Charles C. Clayton, SIU visiting professor of journalism who will be faculty adviser for the new chapter.

In addition to the initiation of some 15 students, a number of area journalists will become members of the Southern Illinois Professional Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, Clayton said. The professional chapter also will elect officers.

SIU Enrollment Totals 5,931

CARBONDALE, Ill. — With winter term registration completed, Southern Illinois University administrators have added another upward stroke to the school's enrollment trend. Final figures show a 12 percent increase over the 1956 winter enrollment.

Registrar Robert McGrath reported 5,931 students in residence as of Jan. 28, compared to 5,260 a year ago. The biggest gainers, by academic units, were the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Vocational - Technical Institute, School of Communications, and unclassified undergraduates. The newly created department of industrial education lists 377 students.

Registration totals include 151 students at the Belleville Residence Center. Not included are 833 students in off-campus extension courses, and 2,296 enrollees in non-credit adult classes, through out the area. University School lists 515 elementary and high school students on the rolls.

ly cool—at first. Cass's skirt blew madly as she ran up the steps to close the apartment windows.

"Leave a north one open," called up Will Ivory from the driveway. "Come they's a harricane, it's better. Jest a crack."

Cass followed him to the side porch; he was preparing to roll the rug, stack the chairs.

Inside, the house was dark, and hot. The ceiling fans still circled, but so many windows and doors had been closed—the wind was howling in the throat of the huge fireplace chimney, and Cass shivered at the eerie sound.

The door bell had rung, and she started toward the front of the hall—but who could it be? A tourist, perhaps, seeking shelter against the coming storm. Often someone saw the sign and—

Well, of course today she would let almost anyone come in and wait.

The front door of the Haven was wide, with its big pane of heavily leaded glass. It was a heavy door

A sudden thrust of wind tore it from Cass's hand, and slammed it inward against her; the man on the stoop pushed her out of its way. "Look out!" he shouted.

Cass regained her balance and tried to smile at him. It was starting to rain in great round drops that lay like polka-dots upon the hot concrete. They came more thickly, and ever more, until they bombarded the ground and splashed water upward in small fountains. Before the wind, waves of silver water swept along the street. Together Cass and the stranger watched the rain, and smiled at each other.

"Oh, come in, come in!" she yelled. "No use drowning!"

Together she and the man pulled the door shut, and Cass's fingertips pressed the light switch. Lamps already bloomed in the living room; the rain had brought with it a strange and troubled twilight. Cass regained her breath, and looked inquiringly up at the tall young man.

"I came here," he said in a fine, rich baritone, "looking for a Marcia Ward Powers. They told me at the Bank..."

She laughed. "But Marcy isn't home. She's downtown, and with this rain, I predict that she'll stay there. But you may wait..."

"Well—" "Go into the living room and make yourself comfortable—oh!" A current of air swept along the floor, the side door had blown open. Papers rustled on Cass's desk, then the door slammed, rattling. "Whoosh!" said Marcy's voice.

The strange man had followed Cass, and now he stood gazing at the laughing, panting girl in the glistening white raincoat, the boots threaded through the dark old house, the voice of her youth and her pleasure at having won a bout with the elements.

"Marcy, for heaven's sake!" cried Cass.

"Got a lift—police car..." Marcy panted. "Picked up these rainy-day items at the shop—first week's pay shot all to—why hello!"

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

The lowly paper clip holds together pieces of paper which are related to each other. The relationships may be categorized or they may be haphazard, but a human reason has motivated the sorting and clipping process which serves some end.

We need to clip together the multiple interests and experiences of our lives so that they will not become lost and dissociated. Many people try to live several different lives at the same time. Or at least they do not relate all of their activities one to the other.

Church attendance, daily work, recreation and social activities are all related. Each influences the other, but the influence should be conscious. Our religious beliefs should reflect themselves in all phases of living. We cannot be honest with God and dishonest in business. We cannot love God and hate men.

Let us see that all phases of life are tied together in worship.

Mission Film at Church of God Friday

A motion picture Mission film will be shown at the Church of God on Land street Friday at 7 p. m. The film was made by the pastor, the Rev. C. G. Friedley, during a trip to the Caribbean and shows living conditions of the people throughout that area. The film is in color. Rev. Friedley invites the public to attend.

Truck Driver Cleared in Herrin Gas Blast

MARION, Ill. (U.P.)—Louis H. Scheffler, Herrin, driver of a propane gas truck, has been cleared of responsibility for an explosion at Herrin last Oct. 18.

Ten persons lost their lives in the explosion and fire which followed.

Scheffler, whose truck leaked propane gas into the area shortly before the explosion, appeared before the Williamson County Circuit Court grand jury Tuesday.

State's Atty. Carl Sneed said Scheffler waived his constitutional rights and was given permission to tell his story to the grand jury. The jury's decision to return no bill against Scheffler erases a manslaughter charge filed against him earlier, Sneed said.

The indictments were returned against seven defendants. They included J. F. Travelstead, 54, Marion, accused of assault with intent to kill V. G. Buckner, Marion, and Joe Creighton, 46, Carbondale. Creighton was accused of assault with intent to kill in the shooting of Mrs. Minnie Lee Branch, 40, and her daughter Bertha, 13, at their Marion home.

Noted Indian Historian Dies

NORMAN, Okla. (U.P.)—Services were pending here today for Dr. Morris L. Wardell, longtime University of Oklahoma history professor and widely known expert on the American Indian.

The 67-year-old historian died at Norman Municipal Hospital Tuesday after being stricken at his home. Associates said he was the victim of a heart attack.

At the time of his death, Wardell held the title of David Ross Boyd professor of history. He had served in a number of positions with the university since coming here in 1925.

Author of numerous books and magazine articles, he was known primarily for his work in Oklahoma and Indian history and current international affairs.

Wardell was born June 19, 1880, in Lawrence County, Ill. He began his college training at Northwestern State Normal at Alva, Okla., and received a degree from Oklahoma University in 1919. He took his master's from Harvard in 1922 and his Ph.D. from the University of Chicago in 1936.

Survivors include the widow and two daughters.

AFL-CIO Orders Three Unions To Clean House

MIAMI BEACH (U.P.)—Three big labor unions have been ordered to clean house within 90 days or get out of the AFL-CIO.

The federation's executive council Tuesday night accused the unions, with memberships totaling 170,000, of being "dominated, controlled and substantially influenced by corrupt influences."

The council told the three unions they must rid themselves of officials involved in welfare fund abuses in order to remain in the AFL-CIO. The unions denied the accusations and criticized the council action.

The unions are the Laundry Workers International, the Distillery, Rectifying and Wine Workers International, and the Allied Industrial Workers.

Nothing Like Correct Procedure

LONDON (U.P.)—Nothing annoys an Englishman so much as incorrect procedure.

Driver Arthur Scarrott was forced to stop his bus when another bus stopped in front of him. Conductor Randolph Gittens felt he could not ring the bell to start the bus because he had not rung the bell to stop it. Scarrott would not start until the bell rang. The passengers got out and walked.

King Saud a Good Tipper

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—When King Saud likes the service at a restaurant, he lets 'em know it. In fact, sometimes the tips cost him as much as the bill.

For example, the Saudi Arabian monarch and a party of about 50 dropped by the Normandy Farms Restaurant in nearby Maryland for a bit of lunch.

The check ran to nearly $750. But the tips ran as high if not higher.

First the king tipped his waitress with a gold wrist watch. Then he presented another gold wrist watch to the restaurant's manager.

And then he left $500 to be scattered about among the rest of the restaurant's employees.

Nor does the king confine his generosity to restaurants.

He was reported to have passed out four gold watches to medical personnel at Walter Reed Army Hospital where his partly-paralyzed three-year old son has been treated.

He also was reported to have sent replicas of his royal robes to all members of the cabinet. However, apparently all this is only a beginning.

When he arrived, the king was reported to have 15 trunks filled with gifts. And how much room can a few watches take up?

NAM Says Budget Is Inflationary

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The National Association of Manufacturers charged today that President Eisenhower's record $71.8 billion budget for fiscal 1958 is inflationary.

The NAM said in a statement filed with the joint Congressional Economic Committee that the new budget marked a return to a fiscal policy of "tax and spend, tax and spend."

The NAM blames labor unions largely for what it called "creeping inflation" during the past eight months. It said gains in productivity had not been enough to justify wage increases which unions received through what it called "monopolistic powers."

Asks Increase in Food Allowances

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.)—Rep. Bert Baker (D-Benton), today introduced in the Illinois House a bill to increase food allowances for old-age assistance recipients from a maximum of 85 cents per day to a minimum of $1.15 a day.

The bill also would allow persons on old age assistance to earn up to $50 a month without their benefits being cut.

Gov. William G. Stratton vetoed a bill to increase the old age assistance food allowance in 1955.

Baker said county jail prisoners are allowed $1.25 food allowance per day. "I see no reason," he said "why prisoners should fare better than our unfortunate older people on old age assistance."

Record $325 Billion Personal Income in 1956

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Personal income of Americans in 1956 totaled a record of $325 billion, an increase of about $19 billion over 1955, the Commerce Department reported today.

The previous high of $306.1 billion was set in 1955.

Simultaneously the Census Bureau reported that the nation's expanding economy led to a new import peak last year. It said in a preliminary report that 1956 U. S. imports totaled a record $12.5 billion. Imports were valued at $11.4 billion in 1955, the previous high.

The Commerce Department report said wages and salaries last year rose about $15 billion or 7 per cent over the 1955 total despite a sharp 1½ per cent decline in the auto industry. The drop reflected the 1956 slump in new car production.

All non-manufacturing industries showed payroll gains in 1956 with the sharpest increases in construction and mining. The largest gains in manufacturing were in industries turning out machinery.

Generally personal income increases for the year ranged between 6 1/2 and 8 1/2 per cent in wages and salaries, non-farm business income, interest and dividends.

No Authority to Control Oil Prices: Fleming

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Fleming says the government is unable to do anything about gasoline and oil price boosts that followed closing of the Suez Canal.

Fleming appeared as first witness at the opening of an investigation Tuesday by the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on monopoly into the price boosts and the government-industry program for supplying oil to Europe.

Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) asked Fleming if his agency had any control over such boosts in prices "which affect people like me—John Q. Public."

Fleming replied that he would have to refer that question to Congress. He apparently referred to the fact that Congress several years ago repealed the government's authority to control prices.

Four Herrin Boys Admit Thefts

HERRIN, Ill. (U.P.)—Four Herrin teen-agers have confessed to a series of thefts and Police Chief Roy Cole said: "This is a new low."

The boys admitted taking money from the purses of women attending church, lunch money from a school cafeteria and a March of Dimes container.

Cole said the boys have been turned over to their parents pending action by authorities.

Murphysboro Man Dies in Fire

MURPHYSBORO, Ill. (U.P.)—William Daniels, about 75, died early today when fire of undetermined origin swept through his Murphysboro home where he lived alone.

Authorities said Daniels, a Negro, was an old-age pensioner. Sheriff Howard Cheatham said Daniels crawled to the door "flaming like a torch" and died shortly afterward.

Local Kiwanians Visit Cairo Club

Twenty six members of the Harrisburg Kiwanis club attended a meeting of the Cairo club last night held at the Cairo hotel. The occasion of the visit by the local club was to take the traveling gavel of Division 16 to the Cairo club.

The gavel was presented by Richard Davenport, president of the local club, to Elmer Cowell, president of the Cairo club.

Fred Wunderlich of the local club, lieutenant governor of Division 16, made an official visit to the Cairo club at last night's meeting.

Col. Emmett Cockrum, second in command of the Air Force ROTC at Southern Illinois University, addressed the joint meeting, urging the Cairo club to sponsor new Boy Scout units there. He is chairman of organization and extension committees of the Egyptian Council Boy Scouts.

Metropolis Man Dies In Fire; Spectator Is Fatally Stricken

METROPOLIS, Ill. (U.P.)—Grover Cleveland Ferguson, 67, suffocated today when fire swept his home, and a spectator suffered a fatal heart attack.

Elmer Stokes, 61, was stricken as he watched firemen fight the blaze, and died later in his home.

Dies Near Ridgway

Mrs. Teresa Cilech, 89, died at 10:30 p. m. yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Louis Kohl near Ridgway.

The body is at the Cox funeral home where it will lie in state. Funeral plans are incomplete.

She leaves three sons and three daughters.

Commenting on the nation's growing energy demand, Dr. Chancey Starr, vice president of North American Aviation, Inc., recently predicted "it will be 10 years before reliable and desirable nuclear power plants are demonstrated." He added that it will be another half century "before they play a dominating role in power generation."

HEAD GOP GAL—Mrs. Peter Gibson, 49, of Monroe, Mich., has taken over as president of the National Federation of Republican Women. Truman Falls on Icy Sidewalk

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (U.P.)—Former President Truman received a two-inch scalp laceration Tuesday when he slipped and fell on an icy sidewalk at his home in Independence, Mo.

Mr. Truman did not receive medical attention until some five hours later at his office in downtown Kansas City.

The wound across the back of Mr. Truman's head was "clear to the bone," his doctor said. The doctor said he took six stitches in Mr. Truman's scalp.

Mr. Truman brushed the incident off. "At a quarter to seven I was working around the house when I slipped on a walk and bumped my head," he said. "It didn't amount to anything." A freezing drizzle had put a film of ice on the walk.

"He was bleeding like everything when he went to the office," the doctor said. "I stitched him up as he sat in his chair, and then he got up and went to lunch."

The doctor said Mr. Truman was in "fine" general health.

Eastern Firm Buys Car Plant Property At Mount Vernon

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (U.P.)—An eastern investment company has bought the property which once housed this city's largest industry.

The Phillip-Steven Corp., New York City, bought the 73 acres and 15 buildings which formerly housed the Mount Vernon Car Manufacturing Division of United States Industries Inc. The purchase price was not disclosed.

Edgar A. Reed, president of Phillip-Steven, said the firm hopes to locate diversified industries on the site.

Reed announced the purchase Tuesday.

Meal Cutting, Cooking Demonstration Feb. 14, Sponsored by Farm Bureau

The educational meat program scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 14, in Harrisburg will be of interest to men as well as women of the area, Raymond H. Vinyard, organization Director of the Saline County Farm Bureau, said today.

The public is invited to attend this demonstration in meat cutting and cooking in the First Methodist church. Registration begins at 9:30 a. m. and reservations for reserved seats may be made at the Saline County Farm Bureau office.

This meeting is part of a statewide series sponsored jointly by the Illinois Agricultural Association, county Farm Bureaus, and the National Livestock and Meat Board. The cutting and the cooking demonstrations will be conducted by two specialists from the Meat Board, Moreland Martin and Miss Delores Smith.

In the morning session, Martin will use the following cuts in his demonstration: beef ribs, pork loin, arm and blade pot roast and lamb shoulder. Miss Smith will demonstrate the proper cooking technique for roasting, braising, cooking in liquid and deep-fat frying.

Following lunch, Martin will display his dexterity with a knife, working with fresh and smoked pork butts, flank steaks, short loin and lamb legs.

By watching Martin, guests can learn how they can save money by buying meat in larger quantities and then cutting it in efficient cuts for several meals.

Miss Smith will demonstrate braising pork butt steaks, broiling porterhouse steaks, and pan-broiling sirloin chops.

Concluding his part of the program, Martin will show the proper methods of carving a pork roast and beef rib roast. Miss Smith will close the program with a colorful and exciting "Parade of Foods," a display of cooked meat dishes, garnished to perfection and ready to serve.

After the demonstration, 125 pounds of meat will be given away to those attending.

House Committee Votes Tax Extension

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The House Ways and Means Committee today voted another one-year extension of present tax rates on corporations, liquor, beer, cigarettes and automobiles.

The 12-month extension beyond April 1 was requested by the administration.

The committee acted after hearing Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey reiterate his opposition to tax cuts this year.

The committee-approved legislation would prevent an automatic drop in tax rates scheduled under present law for April 1. The revenue loss, if Congress fails to vote an extension would amount to more than three billion dollars annually.

Greatest Thrill Yet to Come, Jablonski Says

CHICAGO (AP)—Ray Jablonski, who's been on the All-Star teams of five leagues and rookie of the year in a sixth, thought today his "greatest baseball thrill" was yet to come.

"I don't know what it will be or when it will take place," the Chicago Cubs' new third baseman said. "I just sort of feel something real big is going to happen to my career within the next year or two."

Chicago got 30-year-old Jablonski and righthander Elmer Singleton from Cincinnati for third baseman Don Hoak, hurler Warren Hacker and outfielder Pete Whisenant. The deal was the first completed this winter by the Cubs' "new regime," headed by rookie General Manager John Holland.

"I'm glad to be with the Cubs," Jablonski, a native Chicagoan, said. "I think there is a lot of opportunity for me here."

Jablonski said he and Holland reviewed Chicago's 1957 chances and "were optimistic."

"Mr. Holland and I agreed," Jablonski said, "that the Cubs had been in a losing rut and the players had developed a losing attitude. But now there are a lot of new faces and things are going to be different."

Looking at Sports

BY BILL MELTON

It has been said that it is the unusual that makes news. So the appointment of a girl to the post of sports editor of the Purple Clarion, HTHS publication, most certainly is news.

In fact, a writer in the Clarion's most recent edition, used the word "startling" in announcing the appointment.

The Purple Clarion article states Karen may be the first feminine manager of the sports section in the history of the school paper.

Karen has had a very close connection with HTHS athletics during her three years as a cheerleader, the Clarion adds.

Sports writing is most always considered strictly for men and I understand that most press boxes in professional baseball parks are closed to women. Some sort of a superstition among ball players that women in the press box will bring bad luck.

But every now and then the old barrier is pushed aside and another woman gets into the sports writing picture. One of the larger universities, believe it is Washington U. of St. Louis, has a woman in charge of sports publicity. There is always room for feminine charm in any business.

Welcome to the sports writing field, Karen. And the very best of luck.

And now a reprint from the Feb. 1 issue of the Purple Clarion. Note the heading on the article. The writer has a complaint and wants everyone to know it.

We Mean to Complain!

Harrisburg High School has one of the finest gyms in this part of the state. Probably the only gym any larger is that at West Frankfort, which is not as modern as Davenport Gym. Despite the fine gym here and the central location of Harrisburg, Davenport has been the scene of only two state-sponsored tournaments in its seven-year history.

The avowed intention of the state athletic association is to pass the tournaments around among those schools having gyms big enough to accommodate the attendance crowds. That, we don't argue with; the tournaments should be passed around. Holding a state tournament is an honor, and there is much good publicity attached to it. Also, there is a handsome financial return to the school.

But that being the intent of the IHSA, how, then, does Mr. Willis explain away the fact that Norris City has had two tournaments in three years, and West Frankfort has had three tournaments in two years?

Are we, and the other schools hereabouts, denied tournaments because we don't conduct the tournaments after the fashion desired by the IHSA? If so, wouldn't it be a better policy to point out the mistakes that we make?

Are we to assume that we must have a winning team in order to be assigned a tournament? Well, hasn't Herrin been more successful the past two years than West Frankfort has?

We'll accept any reasonable explanation.

The third annual All-Major Conference scholastic football team chosen by a vote of 230 sports writers on newspapers from Maine to California, has been announced by the editors of The American Peoples Encyclopedia.

The All-American brain and brawn team includes players from major conferences: Ends—Cruze, Tennessee and Bomba, Indiana; Tackles—Rader, Tennessee and Sandusky, Maryland; Guards—Bloomquist, Iowa and Ecker, Georgia Tech; Center—Minor, Illinois; Backs—Dawson, Purdue; McDonald, Oklahoma; Swink, Texas Christian; Borstad, Minnesota.

Rules for selecting the All-American "smart team" are that the players must be scholastic leaders as well as top-notch grid-ders.

Street letter boxes have been in use since 1858.

LAWLER SIDELINED WITH BROKEN BONE

Pat Lawler, Ridgway captain, has been sidelined with a broken left foot and may not see action the remainder of this season.

About a month ago Lawler, senior forward and second high scorer on the team, complained that the foot was bothering him, but an examination failed to show any broken bones. It was thought he had pulled a muscle and treatments of both heat and cold were tried without success. Massaging gave temporary relief, but Lawler continued to hobble, and also continued to play.

More x-rays were made Tuesday, it is reported, and a feather thin break was found. Friday night Ridgway meets county rival Equality for the fourth time this season. In the last two outings Ridgway won by a single point. In the three games against Equality Lawler has scored a total of 35 points.

Michigan's present state capitol building at Lansing was opened in 1879.

Shawneetown Wins 2 Games; Miss Wanda Fisher Crowned Cage Queen

Tuesday night proved to be the highlight of the current basketball season for players and fans of the Shawneetown high school.

Before a large crowd of home folks the Shawneetown Indians won two ball games and Miss Wanda Fisher was crowned Basketball Queen of 1956-57 during the intermission of the games.

Getting the evening off successfully for Shawneetown the "B" team won over Mills Prairie reserves 85-35—then the varsity took a thriller 69-68. In between was the beautiful coronation ceremony.

The Valentine theme was used in the coronation ceremony, with the stage in the gymnasium decorated with red and white streamers, red hearts and a large red heart with silver arrow provided the background for the throne.

Team Captain Bob Stewart crowned Queen Wanda and then presented her with a basketball as he proclaimed her Queen of the Basketball season.

Others in the coronation ceremony were senior attendants Peggy Sheets and Patsy Johnson, escorted by Delbert Cutrell and Glendal Shell; junior attendant Nina Kay Pierson and escort Charles Monroe; sophomore attendant Virginia Stewart and escort Dan Litsey; freshman attendant Connie Fuller and escort Donnie Nolen. The crown bearer was Ellen Scates and carrying the basketball was Larry Scates. Ellen and Larry are cousins.

Majors Report Boom in Advance Sale of Tickets

NEW YORK (AP)—The first ball of spring has yet to be thrown but big league baseball is booming on virtually every front.

A pre-season survey of advance ticket sales reveals an estimated 10 per cent general increase over 1956 advance sales with several ticket offices reporting "record sales." Exact figures cannot be compiled because of the various systems and ticket plans used by different clubs.

The National League champion Brooklyn Dodgers reported one of the most hopeful showings while the world champion New York Yankees said merely they are "way ahead of last year."

Ticket Director Bill Eberly disclosed that the Milwaukee Braves have sold 11,927 season tickets—five more than the previous high in 1955—and said the sales might surpass the 12,000-mark before they're closed. Eberly added that one season-ticket was sold to a man in State City—300 miles from Milwaukee.

Other clubs which reported sales running 10 or more per cent up included the Cincinnati Redlegs, Chicago Cubs, Detroit Tigers, Washington Senators and St. Louis Cardinals.

Fourth Quarter Rally

Byers Young was master of ceremonies and Judy Waller the pianist. Preceding the ceremony members of the cheer leading squad and a large number of girls dressed in formal formed a candle lighted aisle for members of the court.

Miss Mabelle Vickery, senior class sponsor, was in charge of the ceremony.

Shawneetown, looking for its first home victory of the season, had to stage a big fourth-quarter rally to win.

Trailing 55-45 as the final period started and with Mills Prairie wanting to play control ball, the Indians began to rush and quickly whittled six points off the score. With four minutes left to play the court was 59-59. Then the teams traded baskets, with Shawneetown always behind, until with less than a minute to go Mills Prairie went on top 68-65. Bob Stewart then hit one from outside to pull the Indians to 67-68 and seconds later Monroe went under for a basket that put the Indians in front.

There was still time for a throw in, but in their anxiety, Mills Prairie threw the ball—and their last chance for victory—away.

Eisenhower Praises Boy Scout Program

President Eisenhower, in his Boy Scout week message to 4,500,000 members of the organization as their Honorary President, declares that "since 1910, when this program was inaugurated, twenty-six million young Americans and their leaders have been active in it, constituting a tremendous force for wholesome living in our national life."

The message follows:

The White House
Washington

To the Boy Scouts of America: As the American people observe Boy Scout Week, they are—I am confident—proud of the more than 4,500,000 boys and leaders now carrying on the Scout program of character development, citizenship training, and physical fitness. Since 1910, when this program was inaugurated, twenty-six million young Americans and their leaders have been active in it, constituting a tremendous force for wholesome living in our national life. Certainly the Boy Scout program is a distinctive contribution to a better and stronger America.

In July, during the National Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, the Nation will witness a tremendous rallying of the boys and men of the Scout movement. There, they will demonstrate the skills, the capacity for cooperative work, the ability to do things as a united team that they've learned in Scouting. My best wishes go to the fifty thousand who will attend. I am sure that once again they will be inspired by their encampment on that hallowed ground, and that in their conduct there and at home when they return they will prove themselves worthy heirs to their heroic forebears.

As all of you go forward with your Four-Year Program, "Onward For God and My Country", I extend to each and every one of you my warmest regards and best wishes for another year of accomplishment.

(Signed) Dwight D. Eisenhower

Navy Flier is Killed in Crash

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., AP—Navy Lt. Cmdr. Glenn Gallagher of Peotom, Ill., was killed when his Skyraider attack bomber crashed in the woods near Umatilla, Fla., while attempting a crash landing Tuesday.

The Navy said the crash occurred near a bombing target range, but it could not be learned immediately if he was participating in bombing maneuvers at the time.

Columbus discovered the Virgin Islands on his second voyage to the New World.
